

Bus Stop

A bus stop. A bus whizzes by the bus stop. Man in hot pursuit. He stops annoyed at the bus stop to wait for the next bus. He is bent over panting, trying to catch his breath. He looks worriedly at his watch. He waits for long as he nervously scouts for the next bus. A little dog comes along. It looks at the man happily. He ignores it. It wags its tail. He ignores it purposely, scouting for the bus and checking the time on his watch. The dog escalates its advances, while the man more and more annoyed ignores it, until it starts humping one of his legs! Now the man looks down fuming with anger, and tries to kick and shake the dog off. In that very moment the bus whizzes by, without stopping. The man is left there standing with a blank expression, a dog humping his leg. To illustrate his feelings, his pants fall down (because of all the humping) around his ankles.

The end.

Morale: Nothing good comes from fighting true love!